INDY

As we work to find “Game 10”, we have certainly found ourselves in a very stressful situation. Our first five games of the year have been filled with excitement and promising opportunities, yet we have been unable to locate a victory for the win column. Though we evaluate our success in terms of effort, cohesiveness, discipline, and attitude, society will measure us by our number of wins and losses. With this as a barometer of success, we will not flinch, but continue our focus on what may be within our control and attempt to extend ourselves to reach beyond our grasp!

GROUP

Our next four games will definitely bring an interesting analysis of this football team and its staff. It would be easy to lose faith, emotional control, and insight into the fact that these young men are still learning. As much as you would think some players minds would tend to drift elsewhere, we appear to have kids who are working even harder than before. This shows me they understand how close they really are to being a really good football team. They are also aware we are one “banana peel” away from a disappointment no one wants to feel! With such a thin line to walk, we will move together and tackle this task one “Snap” at a time!

TEAM

The Saturday night game at Pius will be interesting for our kids as they will need to entertain themselves for most of the day before reporting for meetings and dinner. Please make sure they follow somewhat of a regular school timeline so we do not shock our systems with the day’s events. Sleeping in a bit will not be a big deal, but keeping them engaged in an activity and moving will keep their systems alert and ready to roll come game time.

Pius Scouting Report

We have noticed Pius improving dramatically as we do our film study from game to game. They will challenge us with their huge offensive line and backs who are beginning to understand the option offense. Their defense will be young, but they also bring good size and quickness to the field at each position. Though our match-up on paper does not appear to be in our favor, we feel confident we can “execute” our way to a win this Saturday!

Wrap-up

Times like this might have folks losing faith, looking for other activities to support, or giving up altogether. Right Now however there is no better time to keep the faith, maintain levels of support, and keep moving forward as we make the most of every play we have left. Opportunity is all we have left and we need to make the most of it each and every day! The goal for a game 10 is only one snap away!!

See you Saturday,
